Jaxx has been working really hard and has recently entered into formal training. He has settled in very well in the Guide Dog office and loves coming to school each morning.

Jaxx is a happy, affectionate boy. He is keen and motivated with a good level of willingness to work, and at times can be quite excitable, he has been working hard on learning settling behaviours and social obedience and has become much more relaxed in cafes and restaurants. Well done Jaxx!

Jaxx is such a friendly boy who just loves everyone he meets! His training will continue to focus on ignoring dog distractions and how to remain in a working state when there are distractions present, learning that he can't say hello to every person and dog he meets! Keep up the good work Jaxx!

Jaxx favourite thing to do when not working is to find his biggest chew toy and take it to his bed for a chew and a well-deserved nap and who can blame you Jaxx!

Thanks to Think Fragile X Foundation for your much appreciated support of Jaxx and our Guide Dog program.
